

Brainiac Blows Billions - Batman Bummed

---

Hall of Justice Party... or “Bowlers R’ Us”

Those in attendance at the infamous RATEOTU (Restaurant At The End Of The Universe) “Hall of Justice” party were, as usual, seeing double. But this time for different reasons. The collection of super beings, both good and evil, included a surprising two-pair of Avengers. Spanning the broadcast ages from the early 60’s to the raucous 90’s, these Avengers dry humored and double-entendre’d their way through the evening. Other notable visitors included The Hulk, Batman, Super Scrubbing Bubbles, Ming The Merciless, the complete cast of The Tick, and the emergence of a brand new superhero known as “Clueless Man” The Champion of Revelwood .

Kudos to Aaron Krakus and Van for getting the video projector running despite assistance and direction from Q and The General. As time goes on, we will continue to collect obscure bits of technology and K-Y them into place. Fortunately, we have the experts to do this. And, fortunately, The Barn is still standing.

Ageless Crime Fighters meet for a quick martini!

Revelwood’s
first official Superhero!

CLUELESS MAN

Stuns evil criminals with a vapid stare
and a hearty “HUH?”

All night long it was...
SPOOOON!!! & NOT IN THE FACE!!!

The Super Scrubbing
Bubble got us all wet.

More photos on page 5

